"My research interests over the past 15 years have focused on technology. I've had 2 large projects funded by the NSF for over $2 million and am currently applying for a third. It will focus on blended course delivered by a mobile - inevitably the future (projections are by 2050).

I strongly encourage you to raise the Erate funding level by more than $5 billion per year (approximately the average demand in recent years). Our status as a leader in technology innovation, which is currently under threat, requires this level of support to maintain and progress in this vital area."
